JEREMY POPELKA: VEILED MONUMENTS

Master glass artist Jeremy Popelka returns with new sand cast glass sculpture inspired by an arcane view of objects and their surroundings. Gestural ornamental surface textures allude to other materials such as stone and fabric while translucent vibrant, glowing color infuses these sculptural forms with vitality

RODGER BECHTOLD: THE NATURE OF THINGS

Over time Bechtold has built a solid reputation for being a major contributor to contemporary landscape painting in the Midwest and beyond. His work is expressed with energy, painted with seemingly effortless brushwork and charged with color.

BEN GRANT: I'VE GOTTEN ON WITH IT A LITTLE ALL THE SAME

Grant's paintings explore the potential for meaning in simple, bold, and colorful combinations of shape and dimension. Grant paints modular units to create strings of information that take on the form of a visual syntax.
